

Taiwan Summer Internship

Ere of my coming to Taiwan, I was speculative about my decision to come here for my Summer Internship, which was when my Dad told me that Taiwan is one of the safest and the friendliest places on Earth. True to what my Dad found in www.google.co.in, I have to say that from what I have experienced, this is the most welldisposed places on Earth and I will never regret my decision to come to Taiwan for my Summer Internship.

Then, I came to know that Taipei has a building that is half a kilometre long and has a hundred and one floors, you guys might know of it as Taipei 101, the day I went there and clicked photos from the 89th floor was one of the most blissful days of my life. The next day I got photos of Taipei 101 from Dr. Sat Yat Sen memorial hall, which made the huge structure look smaller than myself. Secondly, as the topic of Summer Internship was Transportation Engineering, I cannot hide the fact that I was really impressed by the functioning of the public transportation system including the Shuttle bus service and especially the MRT.

On the contrary something that has made me feel awkward while I walk in the dormitories was the fact that both boys and girls are housed in the same dormitory. This is an idea that was completely alien to me before I came here, but as days passed on I started getting comfortable. Something that I am still not comfortable is the food. I do not mean to be offensive, but for someone who considers the pig a dirty animal, worships the cow and hates the smell of sea food, Taiwan is not the best place. Thanks to Seven Eleven, now I have a special liking for pork burgers.

Last but not the least I would like to thank Prof. Tien Pen Hsu, civil Engineering dept., for giving me this opportunity to undergo my Summer Internship here.

Shea Shea!!

Author: Kesavan Balaji

9th July, 2010